Introduction

The FTC takes in reports from consumers about problems they experience in the marketplace. The reports are stored in the Consumer Sentinel Network (Sentinel), a secure online database available only to law enforcement. While the FTC does not intervene in individual consumer disputes, its law enforcement partners – whether they are down the street, across the nation, or around the world – can use information in the database to spot trends, identify questionable business practices and targets, and enforce the law.

Since 1997, Sentinel has collected tens of millions of consumer reports about fraud, identity theft, and other consumer protection topics. During 2018, Sentinel received nearly 3 million consumer reports, which the FTC has sorted into 29 top categories. The 2018 Consumer Sentinel Network Data Book (Sentinel Data Book) has aggregated information about what consumers told us last year on the full range of fraud, identity theft and other consumer protection topics. This year, Consumer Sentinel data is also available online in an interactive format, with updates provided quarterly. The Sentinel Data Book is based on unverified reports filed by consumers. The data is not based on a consumer survey. Sentinel has a five-year data retention policy, with reports older than five years purged biannually.

In addition to taking consumer reports directly from people who call the FTC’s call center or report online, Sentinel also includes reports filed with other federal, state, local, and international law enforcement agencies, as well as other organizations, like the Better Business Bureau and Publishers Clearing House.

In 2018, the FTC was pleased to welcome the data contributions of the Nebraska Attorney General, New York State Attorney General, AARP FraudWatch Network, and Microsoft Corporation Cyber Crime Center. A full listing of data contributors is available in Appendix A3 and A4. Non-government organizations that contribute reports do not have access to Sentinel reports, as access is limited to law enforcement agencies.

For more information about the Consumer Sentinel Network, visit www.FTC.gov/Sentinel. Law enforcement personnel may join Sentinel at Register.ConsumerSentinel.gov.

Inside the Numbers

Sentinel sorts consumer reports into 29 top categories. Appendices B1 – B3 describe the categories, providing details, and three year figures. To reflect marketplace changes, new categories or subcategories are created or deleted over time.

The Consumer Sentinel Network Data Book excludes the National Do Not Call Registry. A separate report about these complaint statistics is available at: <https://www.ftc.gov/reports/national-do-not-call-registry-data-book-fiscal-year-2018>. The Sentinel Data Book also excludes reports about unsolicited commercial email.

Consumers can report as much or as little detail as they wish when they file a report. For the Sentinel Data Book graphics, percentages are based on the total number of Sentinel fraud, identity theft, and other report types in 2018 in which consumers provided the information displayed on each chart.

Reports to Sentinel sometimes indicate money was lost, and sometimes indicate no money was lost. Often, people make these reports after they experience something problematic in the marketplace, avoid losing any money, and wish to alert others. Except where otherwise stated, numbers are based on reports both from people who indicated a loss and people who did not.

Calculations of dollar amounts lost are based on reports in which consumers indicated they lost between $1 and $999,999. Prior to 2017, reported “amount paid” included values of $0 to $999,999.

States and Metropolitan Areas are ranked based on the number of reports per 100,000 population. State rankings are based on 2017 U.S. Census population estimates (Annual Estimates of the Resident Population: April 1, 2010 to July 1, 2017). Metropolitan Area rankings are based on 2016 U.S. Census population estimates (Annual Estimates of the Resident Population: April 1, 2010 to July 1, 2016).

This Sentinel Data Book identifies Metropolitan Areas (Metropolitan and Micropolitan Statistical Areas) with a population of 100,000 or more except where otherwise noted. Metropolitan areas are defined by Office of Management and Budget Bulletin No. 15-01, “Revised Delineations of Metropolitan Statistical Areas, Micropolitan Statistical Areas, and Combined Statistical Areas, and Guidance on Uses of the Delineations of These Areas” (July 15, 2015).

Numbers change over time. The Sentinel Data Book sorts consumer reports by year, based on the date of the consumer’s report. Some data contributors transfer their complaints to Sentinel after the end of the calendar year, and new data providers often contribute reports from prior years. As a result, the total number of reports for 2018 will likely change during the next few months, and totals from previous years may differ from prior Consumer Sentinel Network Data Books. The most up to date information can be found online at ftc.gov/data.

Executive Summary

Overview

During 2018, the Consumer Sentinel Network took in nearly 3 million reports, an increase from 2017.

- Fraud: 1.4 million (48% of all reports)
- Identity theft: 444,602 (15%)
- Other: 1.1 million (38%)

Imposter Scams are the top report category in 2018 (18% of all reports). Debt collection reports declined by 24% percent in 2018 (16% of all reports) and moved to #2. Identity theft (15% of all reports) rounds out the top three reports to Sentinel.

Fraud

There were over 535,000 imposter scam reports to Sentinel. Nearly one in five of those also reported a dollar loss, totaling nearly $488 million lost to imposter scams. These scams include, for example, romance scams, people falsely claiming to be with the government, a relative in distress, a well-known business, or a technical support expert, to get a consumer's money.

Of the 1.4 million fraud reports, 25% indicated money was lost. In 2018, people reported losing nearly $1.48 billion to fraud – an increase of $406 million over what consumers reported losing in 2017.

The median loss for all fraud reports in 2018 is $375. The median individual losses were highest in these fraud categories:

- Mortgage Foreclosure Relief and Debt Management ($1,377)
- Business and Job Opportunities ($1,304)
- Foreign Money Offers and Counterfeit Check Scams ($1,214)

Telephone was the method of contact for 69% of fraud reports with a contact method identified. Only eight percent of those people reported losing money to the scammer – but that 8% reported an aggregate loss of $429 million, and an $840 median loss.

Wire transfers continue to be the most frequently reported payment method for fraud, with a reported aggregate loss of $423 million.

Of people who reported their age, those aged 20-29 reported losing money to fraud in 43% of reports filed with the FTC, while people aged 70 – 79 reported losing money in 15% of their reports and people 80 and over reported losing money in just 13% of their reports. But when they did experience a loss, people aged 70 and older reported much higher median losses than any other age group.

Identity Theft

Credit card fraud tops the list of identity theft reports in 2018. The FTC received more than 167,000 reports from people who said their information was misused on an existing account or to open a new credit card account.

Military

Military consumers reported more than 59,000 fraud complaints, including over 36,000 imposter scams that cost them $34 million in 2018. Imposter scams were the largest single category of reports from military consumers.

Top States

The states with the highest per capita rates of reported fraud in 2018 were Florida, Georgia, Nevada, Delaware, and Maryland. For reported identity theft, the top states in 2018 were Georgia, Nevada, California, Florida, and Texas.

Appendix A1: The Consumer Sentinel Network

Consumer Sentinel Network

The Consumer Sentinel Network is a free, online database of consumer reports available only to law enforcement. It includes reports about identity theft, fraud, financial transactions, debt collection, and credit reports, among other subjects. The Consumer Sentinel Network is based on the premise that sharing information can make law enforcement even more effective. To that end, the Consumer Sentinel Network provides law enforcement members with access to consumer reports provided directly to the FTC, as well as to reports shared by other data contributors.

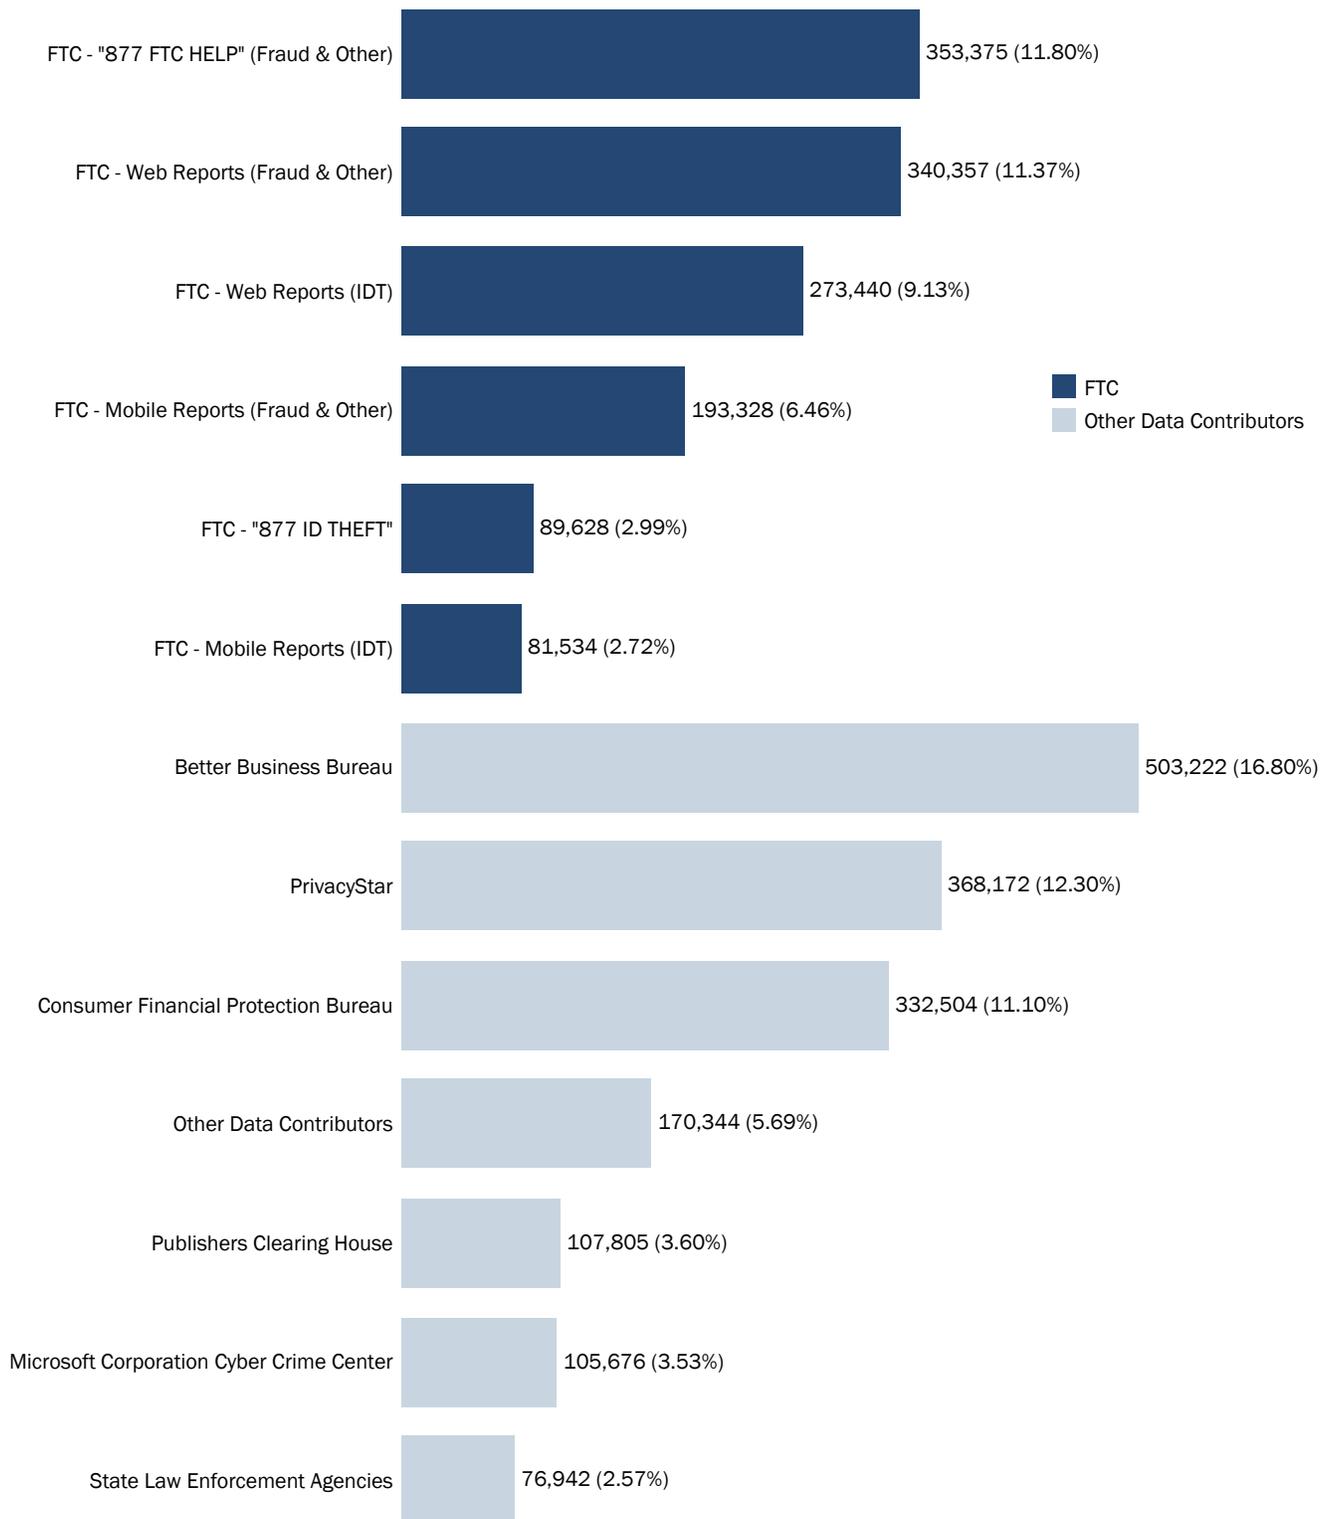

IdentityTheft.gov

IdentityTheft.gov is the federal government's one-stop resource for identity theft victims. People can use IdentityTheft.gov to report identity theft to the Federal Trade Commission and get a step-by-step personal recovery plan. The site will also create an Identity Theft Report victims can use to clear their credit files of fraudulent information resulting from the identity theft. IdentityTheft.gov has detailed advice for more than 30 types of identity theft, and also is available in Spanish at RobodelIdentidad.gov. When people use IdentityTheft.gov, their report becomes part of the Consumer Sentinel Network database and is available to the Network's law enforcement members.

Econsumer.gov

Econsumer.gov was created in April 2001 to gather and share cross-border e-commerce reports, to respond to the challenges of multinational internet fraud, and to improve consumer confidence in e-commerce. Today, consumer protection agencies in 36 countries participate in econsumer.gov. Through econsumer.gov, consumers can file cross-border consumer reports online and learn other steps to take to combat fraud. The website is available in English, French, German, Japanese, Korean, Polish, Spanish, and Turkish. The reports into econsumer.gov are accessible to Consumer Sentinel members and certified foreign law enforcement agencies.
